Global Youth Climate Summit 2027

Climate Solutions That Work · March 10 to 13, 2027 · HKUST, Hong Kong and online

The Global Youth Climate Summit 2027 brings together 500 young leaders, aged 18 to 32, to learn the climate solutions that work, build the leadership skills to scale them, and take them home.

100 delegates will join in person at The Hong Kong University of Science and Technology (HKUST), with at least half from Hong Kong and the Chinese Mainland. 400 delegates will join online from anywhere in the world. Delegates may also apply to become one of ten 2027 Youth Climate Champions, who will each receive USD 1,000 and mentoring to launch a climate project in their community.

The Summit is organized by the Global Youth Leadership Center (GYLC) in partnership with the HKUST Division of Environment and Sustainability, with Hang Lung Properties as Title Sponsor.

Deadline: January 31, 2027. We review applications as they arrive and send decisions on a rolling basis, by February 12, 2027 at the latest. Apply early, especially if you need a visa to travel to Hong Kong.

The form takes about 15 minutes, or 30 minutes if you also apply to be a Youth Climate Champion.

Certificates go to delegates who attend all sessions, in person or online

- ☐ I can attend all four days, March 10 to 13, 2027

Section 3: Your climate action

Please answer in your own words. Short, specific answers about your own experience are better than long or polished ones. You do not need a climate science background.

Which solution tracks interest you most? (choose up to two)*

- ☐ Clean Energy for All
- ☐ Net-Zero Cities and Infrastructure
- ☐ Ocean Health and Climate Repair
- ☐ Biodiversity Across Generations
- ☐ Managing Climate Extremes
- ☐ Youth-led Adaptation and Finance

Your climate action (up to 150 words)*
Describe one climate action you have led or taken part in during the last two years. What did you do, who was involved, and what changed? Include at least one number, such as people reached, trees planted or waste collected.

Your community (up to 100 words)*
Describe one climate problem you have seen with your own eyes in your neighborhood or city.

After the Summit (up to 100 words)*
What is one thing you will do in your community in the six months after the Summit?

Link to your work (optional)
A photo, social media post, article or organization page that shows your climate work.

We select delegates on commitment to climate action, leadership potential, and a clear idea of how they will use what they learn, balancing regions, genders and backgrounds.

Section 4: Youth Climate Champions (optional)

Ten 2027 Youth Climate Champions will each receive USD 1,000 and mentoring to launch a climate project in their community. At least half of the grants go to young people from Hong Kong and the Chinese Mainland. Winners are announced at the closing plenary on March 13, 2027. Applications are individual, but you may carry out the project with a team. You must be a delegate, in person or online.
